I'm sure you've all heard by now.
I've been zooming around the world,
spreading my germs from one household to another.

People like you can feel my super-powers.
You can feel me but can't see me.
I'm invisible.

"I'm bored," said the boy.
"I don't like missing school," said the girl.
"But what's even more irritating," said the children,
"is being stuck at home with our parents who keep telling us to be quiet so they can work.
And it makes us worried that they're scared."

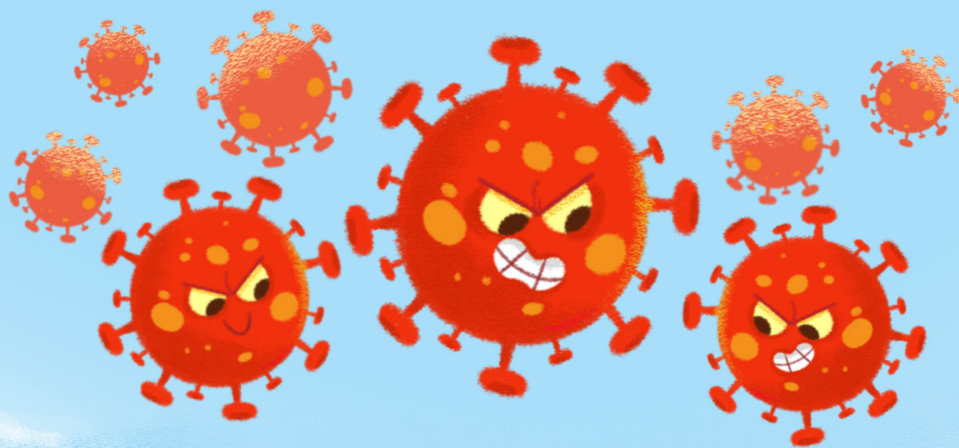

The children went online and saw that many other people around the world are also scared. "HAHAHA! You won't be able to defeat me," said Corona with an evil laugh.

In the meantime, Mother Nature carried on taking care of the planet we live on. Pollution lessened, dolphins have been spotted close to the shore in many countries and other wild animals are roaming free while people stay at home.

Children around the world decided to join forces and fight the virus.

They encouraged one another to stay at home,
to keep their hands squeaky clean,
and to enjoy reading books.

Unable to continue spreading, Corona was furious.

“You may have beaten me, but I will stay around for those who aren’t following the rules,” it said.

The children were now able to jump around,
play together, and return to school.
As for their parents, they were able to go back to work again.

Corona is one of many viruses that people have caught but they have come out of it stronger.

Always remember that difficult times don't last for ever.
This will all pass but, for now, stay at home,
read a lot of books, watch movies
and keep up with your school work.
Enjoy learning new things and use this time well.
